

2008 CNEH Conference Call for Papers
April 18-20, 2008
Montreal, QC

Theme: Inequality and Economic Development in the Long Run
Keynote Speaker: Jean-Laurent Rosenthal (Caltech)

The Canadian Network for Economic History invites proposals for its April 18-20, 2008 conference in Montreal, Quebec. Although we expect that about half of the conference sessions will focus on the theme: “Inequality and Economic Development in the Long Run”, submissions related to other Canadian and international economic history topics are also welcome. To be considered, please email a 2 page abstract to Ian Keay (ikeay@econ.queensu.ca) or Chris Minns (c.mins@lse.ac.uk). The deadline for abstract submissions is December 15, 2007. Authors of the papers selected for presentation should expect to be notified by mid-January. Proposals from graduate students and junior scholars are particularly encouraged. Funds may become available to partially reimburse the travel and accommodation costs of such participants. Information on the venue and programme will be posted on the 2008 CNEH Conference web page (<http://qed.econ.queensu.ca/CNEH/>) as it becomes available.
