

Oleh Havrylyshyn is Visiting Scholar , Centre for European , Russian and Eurasian Studies, University of Toronto. He was formerly Deputy Director of the EUR II dept. in the IMF, responsible for countries of the FSU, and earlier served in the first Ukrainian government in 1992-93 in the capacity of Deputy Minister of Finance , International Affairs. He completed his BA at Queen's University , Canada, and PhD. At MIT. Until his involvement in transition issues in Ukraine and elsewhere, he was Professor of Economics at Queen's University and George Washington University . He has written extensively on international economics, development and transition issues. His recent book Divergent Paths in Post-Communist Transformation: Capitalism for All or Capitalism for the Few? was published in 2006 by Palgrave MacMillan. The latest book , co-edited with L. Vinhas de Souza, Return to Growth in CIS Countries : Monetary Policy and Macroeconomic Framework, was released in 2006 by Springer Verlag. His personal favourite remains the first Ukrainian-language textbook in modern economics, Osnovny Elementy Teoryi Rynkovoï Ekonomiky (Fundamentals of the Theory of Markets.) (1992).